¹ Index history is for illustrative purposes only and does not represent actual PowerShares DB Commodity ETN performance. The inception date of the Deutsche Bank Liquid Commodity Index (DBLCI) is Jan. 12, 2004. The inception date of the Index's Optimum Yield version is May 24, 2006. Index history is based on a combination of the monthly returns from the relevant commodity index plus the monthly returns from the DB 3-Month T-Bill Index (the "T-Bill Index"), resetting monthly as per the formula applied to the PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs, less the investor fee. Index history for the Long and Double Long ETNs is based on the Deutsche Bank Liquid Commodity Index – Optimum Yield™, and index history for the Short and Double Short Commodity ETNs is based on the standard version of the Deutsche Bank Liquid Commodity Index (collectively, the "Commodity Indexes"). The Commodity Indexes are intended to reflect changes in the market value of certain commodity futures contracts based on crude oil, heating oil, corn, wheat, gold and aluminum. The T-Bill Index is intended to approximate the returns from investing in 3-month United States Treasury bills on a rolling basis.

Index history does not reflect any transaction costs or expenses. Indexes are unmanaged, and you cannot invest directly in an index. PAST PERFORMANCE DOES NOT GUARANTEE FUTURE RESULTS. For current index and PowerShares DB Commodity ETN performance, go to dbfunds.db.com/notes.

Long, Short, and Leveraged exposure to commodities has never been easier.SM

The PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs are senior unsecured obligations of Deutsche Bank AG, London Branch, and the amount due on the PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs is dependent on Deutsche Bank AG, London Branch's ability to pay. The PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs are riskier than ordinary unsecured debt securities and have no principal protection. Risks of investing in the PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs include limited portfolio diversification, uncertain principal repayment, trade price fluctuations, illiquidity and leveraged losses. Investing in the PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs is not equivalent to a direct investment in the index or index components. The investor fee will reduce the amount of your return at maturity or upon redemption of your PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs even if the value of the relevant index has increased. If at any time the redemption value of the PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs is zero, your investment will expire worthless.

The PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs may be sold throughout the day on NYSE Arca through any brokerage account. There are restrictions on the minimum number of PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs that you may redeem directly with Deutsche Bank AG, London Branch, as specified in the applicable pricing supplement. Ordinary brokerage commissions apply, and there are tax consequences in the event of sale, redemption or maturity of the PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs. Sales in the secondary market may result in losses.

The PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs are concentrated in commodity futures contracts. The market value of the PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs may be influenced by many unpredictable factors, including, among other things, volatile prices, changes in supply and demand relationships, changes in interest rates, and monetary and other governmental actions.

The PowerShares DB Commodity Double Long ETN and PowerShares DB Commodity Double Short ETN are both leveraged investments. As such, they are likely to be more volatile than an unleveraged investment. There is also a greater risk of loss of principal associated with a leveraged investment than with an unleveraged investment.

The PowerShares DB Commodity ETNs are not suitable for all investors and should be utilized only by sophisticated investors who understand leverage risk and the consequences of seeking monthly leveraged investment results, and who intend to actively monitor and manage their investments. Investing in the ETNs is not equivalent to a direct investment in the index or index components because the current principal amount (the amount you invested) is reset each month, resulting in the compounding of monthly returns. The principal amount is also subject to the investor fee, which can adversely affect returns. The amount you receive at maturity (or upon an earlier repurchase) will be contingent upon each monthly performance of the index during the term of the securities. There is no guarantee that you will receive at maturity, or upon an earlier repurchase, your initial investment back or any return on that investment. Significant adverse monthly performances for your securities may not be offset by any beneficial monthly performances.
